

WILD & SCENIC[®] FILM FESTIVAL

where activism gets inspired

Art + Nature

Stormy

TRT: 3 MINUTES

Unable to seaplane off the island due to inclement weather, our small film crew decided to make the most of our unexpected day off by finding a story. We found Stormy. There is something about the way Stormy approaches life, nature, work, and love that made a big ripple in our lives. Many thanks + much respect to you Stormy Hamar.

Finding the Line

TRT: 13 MINUTES

From slicing through rapids in a whitewater kayak to carving into a plate while printmaking, Alexandra “Chachi” Riesco draws lines between geologic forces and her work and play — but following her own line isn’t always easy. As Chachi navigates challenges, her art highlights the importance of our connections to nature.

The Beauty Between

TRT: 5 MINUTES

The Great Salt Lake is often overlooked and misunderstood. Through her passion for wildlife photography, Mary Anne Karren unexpectedly fell in love with the lake's unique landscape and the 10 million birds that rely on it. She now uses her photography to bring attention to the lake's dire situation in an attempt to save it.

Renaissance

TRT: 5 MINUTES

A ballet dancer finds her true expression through rediscovering her passion for movement in the mountains.

WILD & SCENIC[®] FILM FESTIVAL

where activism gets inspired

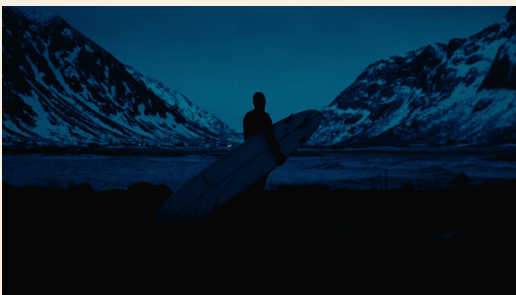

Art + Nature

Inward

TRT: 22 MINUTES

This is a film about Atlanta based artist Michi Meko whose life is expressed in multiple layers of mystical meaning. It's a film experience about journeys, navigation, cartography and way finding into the unknown and the uncharted. It's a narrative about the buoyancy of our souls and survival, keeping our heavy heads filled with heavy thoughts above water.

Siddhartha

TRT: 10 MINUTES

The film presents darkness, fear, and extending past your comfort zone as something with inherent value. Something we can analyze and use in our understanding of ourselves. It aims to show how the characters are developing their relationship with these parts of themselves.

Nanoscapes

TRT: 4 MINUTES

The elaborate nanoscopic topography of butterfly wings has produced a wealth of data on how structural coloration works, and Nanoscapes is an artistic rendering of exciting new research focused on how butterflies actually build these remarkable, infinitesimal landscapes.

Pripyat Horse

TRT: 2 MINUTES

'Pripyat Horse' is an expression of grief for one life lost. But I feel Bede's quote could, unless change is possible, apply to the species life of Homo Sapiens – just a brief flicker in geological time.

WILD & SCENIC[®] FILM FESTIVAL

where activism gets inspired

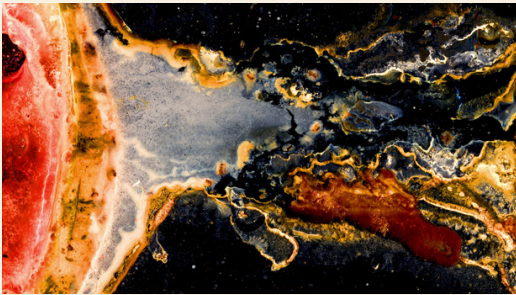

Art + Nature

Gardener to Guardian

TRT: 13 MINUTES

Amid collapsing biodiversity worldwide, Mary Reynolds of Ireland is building a movement to turn gardeners into guardians of the planet, by returning our own patch of land to nature and restoring hope that individual action can create lasting change.

Wrought

TRT: 20 MINUTES

With timelapse videography of rotting in action, Wrought creates an intimate, immersive world where decay can be beautiful, tender and even surprisingly human.

Toxic Art

TRT: 16 MINUTES

On a mission to clean up Ohio's leaking, abandoned coal mines, Ohio University Art Professor John Sabrah teamed up with an engineer to develop a process that turns the toxic runoff pollution into paint. John's artwork has been shown all over the world and proceeds have helped numerous environmental organizations and projects, including a new water treatment plant on the Sunday Creek Watershed.

TRT: 117 MINUTES